A still life composition featuring a collection of dried botanical elements. The arrangement includes several dried, pressed flowers in shades of yellow and orange, some with delicate, papery petals. Interspersed among the flowers are thin, dark stems adorned with small, round, vibrant red berries. There are also dried, feathery seed heads and a single, small, round, yellowish fruit or seed pod. The entire arrangement is placed on a piece of white, textured fabric, possibly linen, which is laid out on a smooth, light-brown wooden surface with a visible grain. The lighting is soft and even, highlighting the textures of the dried plants and the wood.

A close-up photograph of several autumn leaves scattered on a textured, teal-colored surface. The leaves are in various stages of fall, showing shades of orange, red, and yellow. Some leaves are whole, while others are partially detached or broken. The background has a mottled, organic texture with darker and lighter teal patches. The lighting is soft, highlighting the veins on the leaves and the grain of the background.
